MCA Membership Benefits

MEMBERSHIP INCLUDES:

- MCA PAC
- MCA Legislative and Regulatory Updates
- MCA Website
- MCA Directory

"The informational updates you generate from the legislative and political arena, the environmental status for producing members, and the organization structure, ie website, directory and very dependable staff all greatly benefit the members."

Tim Borgmeyer, Buzzi Unicem USA, Chesterfield, MO

"As a small producer, I do not have the time or resources to follow daily developments in government, safety, DNR issues, etc. The staff of MCA does a great job of monitoring this and keeps the membership informed on an "as needed" basis."

Jane Martin, Scott's Concrete, Camdenton, MO

"The benefit I derive from my MCA membership are many. None more important than the promotion, sharing and support of the industry in which I make my living and my family and friends rely. It has been said that concrete is the most widely used construction material in the world. The impact and information provided by the Association can only underscore the importance of the product we provide and help us grow together."

Jeff Slaughter, GCP Applied Technologies, Chicago, IL

"The MCA Staff does an outstanding job of keeping the members informed on proposed legislation and current topics affecting our industry. The association gives us a united voice to express our thoughts and concerns on industry issues. We are very thankful to be involved in the Missouri Concrete Association."

Steve Kueffer, Penny's Concrete, Shawnee Mission, KS

"As a producer member of MCA, we find great value in learning about the cutting-edge issues and topics that impact our industry. Learning from, and interacting with, other industry professionals helps ensure that we are in tune with the latest advancements that will positively impact our business. Also, on the political side, MCA does a great job keeping members apprised of proposed legislative actions and upcoming elections."

Andy Arnold, Breckenridge Materials, St. Louis, MO

"Being a member of MCA has greatly enhanced my continued knowledge of the industry, as the Association keeps up with current issues that affect me and my company as a member. The relationships you build upon represent a healthy combination of friendship and business camaraderie that you know you can depend on when situations or issues arise throughout the work day."

Jason Luebbbering, Cole County Industries, Jefferson City, MO

"Being a producer of concrete block and cast stone products, we represent a relatively small industry. So our membership in the Missouri Concrete Association is vital to our business in that we remain a partner with other concrete producers in our state, experiencing the same general business management challenges. MCA keeps us attuned to state and local government affairs; provides an opportunity for management and employee development training; gives us the opportunity to network with leaders in our industry; and, we are able to present a single voice to the state legislature when issues must be represented."

Kent Wilson, Joplin Building Materials Company, Joplin, MO
